Description
: When you disable display of the Description field on the top bar of the Wiki Page, the option to edit the description is removed when editing the page.

Solution
: Necessary code changes should be made so that disabling the visibility of this field in the Page context should not prevent it from being edited for display in other (e.g. admin or page listing) contexts.

  The immediate workaround for this issue is to configure the display "On" for the wiki page and then to use "display:none" in the CSS.
