Calendar

Status

1. Tiki's event calendar is fairly powerful but it's still a little rough around the edges. It is not seamlessly integrated with the rest of the application.
2. We have a tools calendar which is excellent to follow changes in various sections (Site activity monitor)
3. We have a blog calendar (go back "using a time machine", show me articles/blogs from date X)
4. Users have a pretty good private calendar UserCalendar (But Tiki's event calendar permits a private channel too)

Roadmap

A powerful public/shared/private event calendar using categories and groups. The option to share & subscribe to calendars using calendaring standards and respecting permissions for each calendar "channel". (Tiki needs to become a webcalendar server with login)

Todo

- Follow
  - progress of Zend Ical
  - CalDAV for SabreDAV

Wishlist

Dogfood

- To be able to set a recurring event like 3rd Thursday of each month, which we need for our Webinars
  - Even trickier, "last Thursday of each month"
- Remove "This event is not recurrent" when it's the case
- When there is no description, skip the field instead of indicating that there is no description
- Custom link setting in calendars is not respected (ex.: when I don't want a URL)

Test of trackerlist with tablesorter

works (at least in basic configuration)
Test trackerlist with different parameters (fields) but without tablesorter representing exactly the base of the wishes plugin

incorrect filterfield

Now the one that represents the altered wishes plugin (version Open)

incorrect filterfield
