Through the Tiki Development web site, Users can report bugs and enhancements, review and suggest improvements, and send suggestions in the form of comments. Developers can browse the full list of submitted bugs, conduct searches, respond to reports made via the tracker, change the status of tracker items, and discuss ideas and plan new features.

Visiting here for the first time? Please do read How to Submit a new item on the Wishlist before submitting a bug or feature request. The information on that page will help you to understand what the different fields mean and what to include in your submission.
Become a Developer!

The development of Tiki Wiki CMS Groupware is done in a collaborative fashion by a friendly community of several hundred contributors.

If you are new to open source projects or just new to Tiki, please start with TikiDevNewbie.