Description
    When you view an article, the URL simply includes the id# of the article. On wiki pages, however, the URL lists the article title.

Solution
    Maybe this can be changed somewhere in admin, but I haven't found it. A page does better for SEO
    if the article title is in the URL itself. Even if this could be an option set in admin, that would be nice.

    This would also be a good feature to have for things like the blog main pages and permalink post pages.
