Description

It would be nice if visitors to info.tikiwiki.org could search all of the tw.o domains at once. What I envision:

1. A user goes to info.tw.o and searches for "WYSIWYG"
2. Tiki searches all of the *.tw.o domains and presents the results to the user, breaking the results by domain (e.g., all of the doc pages, dev pages, etc.)

Currently, the search results page will provide a box for users to extend their search to other tw.o domains, but (IMHO) it really needs to be automatic. See http://info.tikiwiki.org/tiki-searchindex.php?highlight=wysiwyg&where=pages&search=go for an example.

Maybe this could be expanded to fetch search results from other, non-Tiki search engines, too.

A bit like blog headings, perhaps we let admin configure a text zone below and/or above the search results.

So people could do search also on Google, Yahoo!, Bing, etc

The search term should be passed as a variable {$searchterm}

For tikiwiki.org, we should offer Google Site Search http://www.google.com/sitesearch/

{if $mid eq 'tiki-searchresults.tpl'}

For additional results, try searching for {$words} in:
Tiki Documentation or
Search all over the Web with Google or

{/if}
