Description

1. Users would highlight the blocks of time they can be around for
2. Their name and a color is automatically added to the block they selected
3. Times that we want people around for (like shifts) are given a different background
4. You can't overwrite someone else's selection
5. You can go back and forth to any day in the future (past should be archived)
6. Sign in so users don't have to type their name.
   Ideally allows for permissions, only x users can use the room monitor column
7. Can also output it as a text list, username with their hours after it etc
