Description

For some situations it would be extremely useful to be able to set a separate permission to allow a Group to create a new Forum.

This would then avoid having to give the Group the full tiki_p_admin_forum permission, which then also allows users in this Group to set Permissions.

Whilst the full Permission functionality is extraordinarily flexible and feature rich, it can also be quite confusing for a less experienced user and the use of Categories (ie using pre-packaged sets of permissions) is a much easier function which obviously should still be allowed from the Create New Forum screen.

This is still a valid feature request - so I've refreshed it (Aug 2013) - but its not a particularly high priority
