Description
    The goal of having a newsletter system with group & permissions is that many different people may send newsletters.

    Until 1.9.2, the "from" email was always the system email. In 1.9.3, the "from" email was corrected to be the user actually sending the newsletter.

    We could have general options, overrideable on a newsletter-per-newsletter basis.

    A- System default email
    B- Email of person sending the email (so this person gets the replies)
    C- Use a specific email (part of newsletter settings)

Solution
    This is possible since a few tiki versions (15.x LTS), with an empty field that can be filled at sending time to have a different "sent from" and "reply to" email addresses.
    So closing ticket.
    Thanks

At the same time, add the option for to send the newsletter to a test email address filled in manually at the preview level to check "rendering" of the newsletter at the other end. A kind of "user end" preview.

Would avoid the creation of as many "autotest" newsletters as there are authors...

Sender, and recipient of replies are not necessarily the same person...

change of "from" is in testing now. Will be commited within a few weeks.
