Description
after upgrading a TikiLiveCD from 3.1 to 4.0, the user admin logs in to tilki-index.php and sees "Permission denied you cannot view this page"

I've seen on users management that this user has no group assigned. However, the livecd also had another user with full admin rights by granting them all to him by assigning groups to him with those permissions. Something like this:

admin livecd at tikiwiki.org Monday 16 de November, 2009 20:56:36 CET Assign admin to groups

root root Monday 16 de November, 2009 20:58:16 CET Assign root to groups
White Admins
White Editors
White Registered

Logging in as user root I can admin the site, and see this user management page. But I can't through user admin after the upgrade.

During the upgrade, the only warnings I saw at upgrade time were:

I reported this bug, it is still open, but I can't edit it any more. What's wrong?

Moreover, I didn't make this selection of features involved (user files ?????)

Something is wrong still here in dev.tw.o...

Do you know that in 4 we take away any hardcoded priviledge for user admin. And the priviledge is only checked via the group Admins that must have the perm tiki_p_admin.
I can not find in upgrade script the upate - only in tiki.sql
Sp perhaps we have to add this in an install schema thanks sylvie, I was not fully aware of this and it was missing info at doc.tw.o/Tiki4 page.

I'll add it there right now.

Is this page categorized?
Are there object or category perms?

Xavier de Pedro 20 Nov 09 10:10 GMT-0000

it was a standard bug report the one I submitted. I don't know if somebody else (human) changed it afterwards (i didn't receive any email about it even if I'm monitoring my own bug reports). However, I did select categories as usual (Category, Tiki version, Feature, Related project and Ticket status). Ticket status selected as new (I don't know why it's shown by default at creation time as "Closed - Cancelled"; it should be "New")

And I notice one change after my bug report. I did select in the Feature section the checkbox: "User Administration (Registration, Login & Banning)", but I see as selected right now: "User Files"

Xavier de Pedro 20 Nov 09 10:14 GMT-0000

also, I think I selected "4.x" under "Tiki version", Only, or in addition "Dogfood on a *.tikiwiki.org site" (I would say only, but I'm not sure) Nowadays under Tiki version only "Dogfood on a *.tikiwiki.org site" is selected oh well, I saw that a few of those categories (the new ones, I guess) have object perms.

I wonder who created them, and why they were kept with object perms (mistake, intentional?). The object perms in theory allow modifying them...

It is because the field type is category dropdown and this field type has no possibility to preselect an option (afaik) so it takes the first one in row.

seems tracker comments are not wiki parsed 🙁

yes, I figured out, but anyway, I preferred to post about it since in the mid-run some default value should be selectable for categories if allowed to be shown through a drop down.
