Description
I was recently looking for a way to easily make a Glossary when I came across the Hotwords feature. I immediately took to the feature and began using it. But I got to thinking, it would be nice if I could enter a description, check mark a box(to include the word in a glossary page) and check mark a box(to use the word as a Hotword).

Then just have a wiki page with a {glossary} tag or have a predefined wiki Glossary page.

Solution
I'm not sure how much work or time this would take, but it seems to be a few added database fields and a output template. I'm not familiar with PHP programming so I don't want to say this is an easy feature to implement. But it would alleviate the need to maintain a Glossary page and I think quite a few people would find it very helpful.
