Description

My immediate need is to be able to quickly see the Subversion revision of a show instance to report that revision X is working or revision Y is not working.

I could chek in tiki-admin.php but it would be better if it was visible in the footer to anonymous.

We will likely later think of other things we want to override and thus, having this is future-proof.

Solution

This is against the concept of show.tiki.org. We want default Tikis, otherwise this is useless. Having said that, we are going to provide a info.txt (and a link to it from dev) to show the info related. The show.tw.o dev team will be working on this over the next 2 weeks.

Affecting all the Tikis by a tiki.ini is against the concept of show.tiki.org.

Easy access to version number would be nice.

Thanks!

... info.txt in the document root that you can consult for information like this.

Is on my todo list, but after FrOSCon.

Also, I'm thinking a comments box on the Homepage which will also display the info and point to info.txt and install_log.txt and such stuff

Jean-Marc Libs 30 Aug 13 02:31 GMT-0000 info.txt is there already revision 47303.

Comments box would help.

Thanks!
