Description

Selecting a plugin alias (tiki-admin.php?page=textarea) and clicking "delete" gives a error (blank page) and nothing happen.

I've had this issue with different tiki versions:

9.4 (production website, using tiki since 2005)

9.4 (test website, fresh install)

9.6 (test website, updated from a 9.4 fresh install)

I could no reproduce it on tiki 9.4 on show.t.o, but I just tried a 9.3 instance, and I get the issue back with the following error message:

Fatal error: Call to undefined method ParserLib::set_preference() in /var/www/pianoliv-11386-4715/lib/parser/parserlib.php on line 701

Solution

Apparently solved version 12 or earlier

Thank you for submitting the bug report.

We will try to reproduce on Trunk and the latest 9.x

If the bug only happens on an older version of 9.x then we will have to ask you to upgrade to the latest 9.x in order to fix the issue.

If the issue still exists then we will fix it and release the fix on all supported versions of Tiki

thank you

Thanks,

I updated the description, the issue appears with the latest version (9.6), but could not be reproduced on show.tiki.org

That's why I created a 9.3 instance where a similar bug appears, not sure if it is the same.
