Description
    Solved and closed! SORRY! It was a dumb configuration fault. I just unknowingly did set it this way - OUCH!

    Last update from SVN (12.0svn): Thursday 10.10.2013 22:59:47 CEST- REV 47972

    When I create an article (example.com/tiki-edit_article.php) everything is fine, but when I want to reedit th article (add some info, correct a typo etc.) and use the edit link to the article (example.com/tiki-edit_article.php?articleId=16), the body editor is disappeared.

    The body (main part of the article) is alright shown in view mode, but it is not possible to reedit the body, cause then the body part of the editor isn't there.

    I try to reproduce on show.tiki.org now.

    I could not reproduce on show.tiki.org

    Weird! -> So I lower the importance and try to find out more.

    Solved - it was a configuration fault! I can be so dumb.

    Last update from SVN (12.0svn): Friday 18.10.2013 12:58:31 CEST- REV 48060

Solution

Better configuration. Sleep at night and start fresh in the morning.

-> try to avoid "Error 40" cause of PEBCAK <-

Workaround

Not be so dumb. It's a sunny day and check the configuration first:

Ticking "heading only" hides the body! Ouch.
