Description

There needs to be a way to set a default language in the administrative settings so that you do not have to select a language in the page editor unless it deviates from the default. It's a PITA to have to manually set the language with every page you create.

It would be nice if the default could be set on a per-user basis from MyTiki settings, since users tend to do all of their work in one human language.

As per Tiki23 if your user has a different language settings than the Tiki site default and create a page, it will be in its own language by default and changeable.
