Description

When creating a new Tracker, i cannot set categories. They are visible as checkboxes but not selectable.

Only checkbox "Auto-create corresponding categories" is selectable.

I put it to blocker because assigning permissions (categories) to tracker is essential.

I guess its easy to solve because it might be related to the bootstrap issue fixed in <https://dev.tiki.org/item5500>

Testcase:

user: admin

password: 12345

http://wolfgang-a-11730-5504.show.tikiwiki.org/tiki-view_tracker.php?trackerId=1

Update: Since this bug is fixed i removed the testcase instance

Solution

Fixed in SVN r53608. I removed the col-md-9 class as luci suggested, and removed some legacy CSS that also was causing a problem with the checkbox positioning. — gary

It is actually caused because `.checkbox` class has `position: relative` in `tiki.css`:

.radio, .checkbox { display: block; margin-bottom: 10px; margin-top: 10px; position: relative; }

When I remove the `position: relative` in Firebug it does not change anything visually but fixes the bug. Gary said he does not know why Bootstrap makes this `position: relative`. It might break somewhere else. Should I try to commit the fix for Tiki?

Hi Luci,
in my mind +1
Just hard to backtrack, if it brakes something else!?
Would be good to learn why Bootstrap does it.
Thx for taking this.

Actually it is never as simple as it seems ;-) I know why Bootstrap does it. The mystery is why it happens in Tiki just for the `#categorizator`. Removing the class `col-md-9` from it fixes the bug too. Leaving it to Gary now. Gotta some other stuff to do...

Well investigated.

Hope it get fixed before release.
