Description

Changing File Gallery upload size really should be in: Admin Panel > File Galleries

This is a very common and necessary function that shouldn't have to be changed by changing scripts in php files (novices already have more than enough to learn with the Admin Panel gui, learning to change scripts in php files will only discourage new users and will serve as a reason to drop Tiki and move on to another program).

There should be a simple text box (or drop down) where the Admin can easily change the file size (assumption: when you press 'change preferences' the php script is updated).

On every Tiki site I've work, on this is always one of the very first problems I have to deal with.

thanks,

Mike
