Description
When you enable the tracker option to "Create a group for each item", the group created will have no name associated to it, making it impossible to be used.

When you try to edit it, the system open up to create a new group.
When you try to create a second item, no group will be created (because there is already a nameless group)
The remove funcion works.
When you try to modify its permissions, you go to global permissions.
When you open the item list in the admin panel, there will be the fieldId item that created it, in the groups name.

I guess to fix it we should have to take a look in the naming of the created group, in my opinion that is what is causing this issue. Will take a look, but can`t promise I`ll find it =P
