Description
On tiki-admin_modules.php, when assigning a menu module, this message appears before any configuration is done: "Error - One of these parameters has to be set: Menu, Structure."

This appears before the admin does anything, so it's disturbing and inappropriate. Probably instead of "Error" it should say "Note" or "Notice".

(I don't know if the same message appears if the module is being saved without the parameter set, which might be a reason for the stronger tone.)
