Description
tiki-admin_menus.php

After an upgrade from 15 to trunk the groups are not shown anymore when menu items are listed.

This is emberassing and time consuming, especially when you use the feature to manage the menu item display via the groups.

Now you have to open each single menu item, when you want to check for which group or group combination the item currently is set to visible.

In case you had several identical items for different group combinations you will get crazy, but even for average use cases (only one group set) and only few menu items it is quite annoying to not see the group in the listing.

Ths is a UX deprication an a regression of something we have in Tiki since ... beofre Tiki 2 I'd say and which is absolute basic.

In case that would be an option/preference (why it should be?) please set it to visible by default!

Best regards,
Torsten

Sorry Torsten, i don't understand - i see groups shown here for instance, or did i miss something? (fixed the bug where the Class labels shows incorrectly though in trunk)

I don't think groups were ever shown on tiki-admin_menus.php only tiki-admin_menu_options.php i thought?

Torsten Fabricius 03 Oct 16 20:05 GMT-0000

Ok, not in /tiki-admin_menus.php, BUT IN /tiki-admin_menu_options.php definitely.

Right now I am looking for a configuration issue, but I wouldfind that very strange. Maybe an svn up will do it?
After checking further, I'll send a screenshot if I do not find the cause.

Hello Jonny,
you are right, that in Tiki 15 the grous are shown correctly.

In trunk they are not anymore:

Last update from SVN (16.0svn): Saturday September 3, 2016 06:07:55 CEST- REV 59588

See:
dev.tiki.org menu Id=44 itemId=1118 => My wishes URL: ((User)) Groups: Registered Class:
Same on:
nextdev.tiki.org menu Id=44 itemId=1118 => My wishes URL: ((User)) Groups: Registered Class:

This is strange, as it looks under this condition like a config issue:

In my 'Last update from SVN (16.0svn): Saturday September 3, 2016 06:07:55 CEST- REV 59588' the same menu provides far less fancy information. I have more like a plain table - will provide you a screenshot later on.
I do not have a cue where to activate / deactivate this behaviour difference.

You've lost me, sorry - so are you saying it's fine on 15.x and trunk as seen here and on nextdev?

If so maybe it's a theme issue?
