Are you sure B? Upgrading from which Tiki version?

From 16 to 17 on the *.t.o sites we found the button plugin needs validating, but that's because someone added validation to it, no way around that i'm afraid.

Shame to have a blocker now, guess we're not releasing on Thursday after all? 😞 p.s. I corrected the "easy to solve" field, you set it to "easy" ;)

I am seeing this in our tiki17. It's an annoyance for sure. Every time I have to validate html plugin when updated. Not a deal breaker, but a slight annoyance.

Philippe Cloutier 10 Jan 18 13:55 GMT-0000

Hi John,

You are seeing this when updating from which version to which version? Please mention at least one case.

John Morris 10 Jan 18 16:17 GMT-0000

I am only seeing it in my current version Tiki17. I never used the plugin in with prior versions.

Philippe Cloutier 10 Jan 18 16:20 GMT-0000

So the issue you are experimenting is not an update issue, right?

John Morris 10 Jan 18 18:48 GMT-0000

No, sorry for the confusion, I probably did more harm than good by jumping into this discussion, the issue I am seeing is only on our tiki17 installation, every time I edit content inside of the html plugin tags, I am prompted to approve the plugin.
I'll bow out of this topic now, thanks Philippe.

No problem John
You may want to see ticket #4706.

Thanks Phileppe
