Description
    On Tiki 18.x I have a tracker with a dropdown field to display different values.

    By default the value should be 0.
    The dropdown doesn't display an option if the value of the option is 0.

    I tried:
    0,1,2,3,4,5

    0=0,1=1,2=2,3=3,4=4,5=5

    0=0,0=0,1=1,2=2,3=3,4=4,5=5

    =0,=0,1=1,2=2,3=3,4=4,5=5

    0=None,0=None,1=1,2=2,3=3,4=4,5=5

    None are working (none=None,none=None,1=1,2=2,3=3,4=4,5=5 is working fine)

    _____

    I created an instance.

The field time is a dropdown with the following options: 0=0 hours,1=1 hour,2=2 hours,3=3 hours,4=4 hours

Go at: http://bsfez-11581-6744.show.tikiwiki.org/tiki-view_tracker.php?trackerId=1
Create an item, the first value (equal 0) is not displayed.

I have the feeling this is a nasty regression.(in another case changing back the value for something else than 0 didn't make the "lost" options reaper.

Solution

Smarty thought that 0 is equal to `{tr}other{/tr}`
We had to make smarty template explicitly treat $value !== 0

Fixed in Master/Trunk/23.x:

To be backported soon
