Description

When a wiki syntax field calls maketoc and the FADE plugin, the table of contents generated may contain bogus entries at the beginning. All the titles in the body of any call to FADE are taken into consideration by maketoc.

This bug is very similar to Table of contents entries (maketoc) in wrong order when wiki pages are included.

Example

With the following field content, the TOC contains 2 headers, instead of just "Normal header":

```
{maketoc} ! Normal header This is a test page for the FADE plugin. {FADE(label=Label)} !!
Header which should not be in the TOC Lorem ipsum... {FADE}
```

Solution

The contextual parser (implemented with the Parsable class) should make a solution to this realistic.

This is related to Display of collapsible sections ("+"/"-" headers) in FADE zones broken.
