Description

Some profiles bring up this fatal error when you try to preview the changes to be made:

```
Fatal error: Uncaught TypeError: Argument 1 passed to Tiki_Profile_Installer::install() must be an instance of Tiki_Profile, boolean given, called in /var/www/clients/client1/web16/subdirs/tiki19x/admin/include_profiles.php on line 85 and defined in /var/www/clients/client1/web16/subdirs/tiki19x/lib/core/Tiki/Profile/Installer.php:409 Stack trace: #0 /var/www/clients/client1/web16/subdirs/tiki19x/admin/include_profiles.php(85): Tiki_Profile_Installer->install(false, 'all', true) #1 /var/www/clients/client1/web16/subdirs/tiki19x/tiki-admin.php(545): include_once('/var/www/client...') #2 {main} thrown in /var/www/clients/client1/web16/subdirs/tiki19x/lib/core/Tiki/Profile/Installer.php on line 409

Update

In 22.x it brings an Error alert dialog:

Error loading profile This message will move to the top of the page after a few seconds.

Solution

It should be bullet proof or show something like "This profile has some code issues to be currently previewed" if it is a matter of wrong code. But hard to say, as the profile installs flawlessly then. Just the profile preview fails.

Still there in 2020. Nobody noticed?

Jonny Bradley 27 Oct 20 11:53 GMT-0000

Any clues as to which profiles it fails on? 😞

Just tried the featured profiles (having added 22.x category to them) and they all preview fine - no more free time now...

Thanks @Jonny Bradley!

Well, strangely all of my profiles fail to preview changes to be made when you add <https://profiles.luciash.eu/profiles> to the profile repositories on the Advanced tab panel.

But now they produce a vague Error dialog instead on 22.x

Few of the official profiles.tiki.org ones also produce the same error now...

- Bootstrap Row and Col Plugin Aliases
- Consensus Forums
- Execute on List
- ...

Ah, is it because they contain spaces in the name of the page???

But I have Roundify or Squarify profiles with one word name and they fail too? Hmmm....

Curious...

~~So it the issue your profiles repo?~~

Sorry, re-read it properly, will check again on those ones...

luciash d' being 28 Oct 20 12:19 GMT-0000

Thanks!

Replied to Thanks!

It seems to have been that the profile names were getting double url encoded, so were breaking if there were spaces in them, and the url was also double encoded so maybe this will fix it for your repo too? (not tested yet)

HTH!

It seems...

Sorry Jonny, just retested and I still cannot preview e.g. "Bootstrap Row and Col Plugin Aliases" profile 😞

Did not help any other failing ones it seems. (I cleared my Tiki cache btw.)

Sorry... That's odd - definitely works for me in Brave - it's a js file fix so did you clear the browser cache too?

luciash d' being ☐>Jonny Bradley 28 Oct 20 15:51 GMT-0000 Replied to That's odd -... Ah, nope, just the Tiki cache. I will try browser cache as well!

Replied to That's odd -...

Yipeeee! Now after also clearing my browser cache it works! Closing!

Thank you! ☐

Interesting... on the show instance link I see this in plaintext:

require_once('tiki-setup.php'); if (! headers_sent($header_file, $header_line)) { // rfc2616 wants this to have an absolute URI header('Location: ' . $base_url . $prefs['tikiIndex']); } else { echo "Header already sent in " . $header_file . " at line " . $header_line; exit(); }

Looks like the new show2 server is only half set up? 😞

Can you cherry-pick backport to 21.x LTS?
