- ● Expose Action log data to the pivottable plugin

Description

Activity stream / Activitystream doesn't seem to be able to display changes in wiki pages.
Tested in 20.x, with admin, adding new pages from tiki profiles, and editing pages from there.

Activity stream reports no changes in wiki pages.
This might be either a bug in the feature or a problem with the documentation about the feature:

Mmm, does it mean that the way Activity Stream is coded so far it only allows easy display of tracker item data and social network-like data? (according to the documentation: <https://doc.tiki.org/Activity+Stream>)

It that is the case, I would keep a suggestion to expose Action log data to the pivottable plugin. I don't know whether this means exposing the action log data to the unified search index or not, but exposing the activity in the site to admins to easily review and visualize with some charts and summary tables what's going on would be very helpful.
