Description

When you are in edit mode on a Wiki page, when you click on the Help icon in the toolbar of the Wiki page, and then click on the Plugin Help tab. If we choose to open a modal of a plugin and close it, right now, by trying to click on the Help icon, no modal will open.

On the other hand, when you close the modal of a Plugin by saving the changes, you can currently open the Help modal by clicking on the Help icon, but you can't open other modals unless you reload the page or save it.

The problem is that the modals do not open at least at some point to save or reload the page.
