Description

At tiki.org, I wanted to switch to a particular user's account to check what his permissions were. I clicked "Switch to this user" in the Actions popup (over the wrench icon) and got an action confirmation dialog that I confirmed, and when the page refreshed, I was still logged in as admin, not the user. I didn't check yet at other sites to see if this problem is limited to tiki.org or general for branch 20.

Just noticed the same on another site and i think it's when there more users than `user_selector_threshold` so you get a search object selector.

Solution

Seems ok now, odd - definitely was broken for a while
