Description

When I use the image plugin in TikiWiki 18.3 and set the text to flow around the image

When I set a caption to the image (desc="") then the flow is immediately disrupted.

Captions, when no text flow is set, work perfectly, so these two features disturb each other. I posted this as a question in the forum, and got a workaround and the advice to report this as a bug.

Thanks for your help

When I click the link, I see a dialog from an installer, asking me for a user name and a password, but entering show and show always leads to the credentials page again...

Now I could enter something that looks like a fresh demo wiki, but I cannot login with show/show... "invalid username or password".

hman 14 Jan 20 16:37 GMT-0000

Ok, now I finally got it created. But when I log in, I am asked to change the password and give a verified e-mail address... I do not want to change the password on a demo page...

Hi hman
The login show and show is for the "basic authentication" little popup that comes up before the tiki pages, it's to stop the bots and crawlers indexing test stuff.
When i get past that it says: "TIKI INSTALLER MISSING THIRD PARTY SOFTWARE FILES" so something's broken, looking at the log file it seems the database has crashed, maybe try tomorrow and i'll let someone know...

Ah, i see you made two show instances... this one looks like it should work: http://hman-11504-7233.show2.tikiwiki.org, the default password was admin, i changed it to 12345 and set the email to example.com - seems to work now 🌐 luciash d' being ⬚ 14 Jan 20 16:53 GMT-0000 show/show is for the http authentication only to log in to tiki use admin/admin and then change it to admin/12345 or anything else and tell us in the bug report description or comment here

the "demo" is just yours, so no worries ;)

Jonny Bradley 14 Jan 20 16:59 GMT-0000

Did that! 😃

Thanks. Demo'ed and snapshot taken. Happy debugging 😃
Thanks for your help.
