Description
The help for calendar import seems to be broken, some translation markups are missing, thus it does not get correctly localized into ANY language. And even in English the text does not make much sense. There is no  markup in CSV files. So guess those line breaks should format the help output, but not be displayed as themselves in the output of the help. Everything after line 25 should be checked.

Import, not input. Once again I cannot edit my own bug reports...

Hm? This time I could edit the bug report, despite a "Error detecting Javascript". I am increasingly convinced that the inability to edit could have something to with the presence or absence of a comment?
