Description
Currently, Tiki Manager lives without a release version, making sometimes hard to understand the version that is being used.

I would like to suggest a Tiki Manager software versioning, and making a release each month (if there are code changes).

The master (should we rename it to main?) would be the release branch, where tags will co-exist. And on the side, we would have a 'develop' branch, that would hold all the code changes (that are not hotfixes) and released by merging to 'master' by the end of the month.

The tag would be the ending month: 2020.07 (YYYY.MM)
Hotfix tag: 2020.07.1 (YYYY.MM.*)

This strategy also allow, us developers, to use the 'latest' nightly version and found/fix issues before release date.

Feel free to comment or suggest.
