Description

The email that is sent to the admin to validate a new account includes a link that is messing a "?"

Hi,

atest2 < mark at emailaddress.com.au> has requested an account on tikiwikiwebsite.com.au

To validate that account, please follow the link:

http://tikiwikiwebsite.com.au/tiki-login\_validate.phpuser=atest2&pass=3c903b60c1f6b3cc6ebae63e214bc081

best regards,
your Tikiwiki

the link should start with

http://tikiwikiwebsite.com.au/tiki-login\_validate.php?user

I've never submitted a bug before, let alone a fix, hopefully I'm providing the info the right way....

Solution

/templates/mail/moderate_validation_mail.tpl

Line 6 Columd 17 needs to add a "?"

to change from:

{ $mail_machine }?user={ $mail_user|escape:'url' }&pass={ $mail_apass }

to

```
{ $mail_machine }??user={ $mail_user|escape:'url' }&pass={ $mail_apass }

As it is a smarty bug I am not in favor of this patch - because at the next upgrade of smarty you will have 2 ?. Smarty 2.6.14 messes up with <> }?.

Solution replace <{ $mail_email }> with ({ $mail-email }) until samrty is fixed

I just tested with pre-1.9.8 and the Smarty upgrade seems to have done the trick!
