Description

When you view an article, the URL simply includes the id# of the article. On wiki pages, however, the URL lists the article title.

Solution

Maybe this can be changed somewhere in admin, but I haven't found it. A page does better for SEO if the article title is in the URL itself. Even if this could be an option set in admin, that would be nice.

This would also be a good feature to have for things like the blog main pages and permalink post pages.
