Description
        Hello

        I had a lot of warning when i upgraded to tw 1.9.8.1 this morning.
        It talked about include_once() problem and include_path.

        Many things to say about:
        php in safe_mode (deprecated) cannot modify ini value !
        ini value set in apache conf with php_admin_value cannot be modified !

        all scripts using "TikiInit::prependIncludePath()" have to check the return value of the method because init_set and set_include_path can return FALSE.
        In this case, an error message should be printed to the user, and/or logged.

        Here is a list of files using this method.
        - db/tiki-db.php
        - tiki-install.php
        - tiki-setup.php

Solution
        A better solution is probably creating a similar function to use in replacement of include_once().
        for exemple :
        tw_include_once() that does all the jobs.

After several years, Tiki installation seems to work fine. Please retest with recent Tiki and if relevant create a new ticket.
