Description

If the page I am looking for doesn't exist, Tiki will send to a similar page (if only one) or to the list of pages (if many)

This is interesting.

However, I may not want this behavior if I am building my wiki pages from the menu 1- create menu and 2 click on it to create page and thus testing the link.

This new feature (which wasn't there before) creates a new behavior that maybe should be the default. But it should be possible to turn it off.

AFAICT, feature_redirect_on_error (in tiki-admin.php?page=features) doesn't seem to do anything in 1.9 or 1.10 Redirect on error seems to always be on.
