Description

New section edit feature is very useful. Three minor adjustments:

A- There is no way to edit the section preceding the first !,!!,!!! etc
This would be nice as well.

B- When getting to the section via an anchor, the edit by section icon is too high. To see what I mean:

1- login to doc.tikiwiki.org

2- go to

<http://doc.tikiwiki.org/Editorial+Board+Meeting+2008+05>

3- Then click on an anchor like:

http://doc.tikiwiki.org/tiki-index.php?page=Editorial+Board+Meeting+2008+05#2_3_Proposed_changes_to_doc_tw_o_site

Notice how the edit button is not accessible directly? I need to scroll up a bit (not ideal)

C- After editing a section, I should be sent back to the anchor of the section I just edited
So I can see what I just edited.

Solution

A- Done. Not sure if related but section edit seems to get mixed up and show the wrong section sometimes.
B- Seems ok now. All themes should be checked.
C- Done

I think you cannot do what your propose.

The anchor part of the url is not sent to the server by the browser at least with FF3.x

Too bad, it was a great idea...

On Firefox 3 for Windows, a section edit of http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wikipedia:Editing_policy sends me to the right place after edit

Thanks!

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wikipedia:Editing_policy is not the same than <http://serveur/tiki-index.php?page=name#section>

PS: sorry for the doubled comment... 😊

What about?

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wikipedia:Editing_policy#Wikipedia_is_not_a_discussion_forum

Well if you change your wish in, if when I edit a section, return to it in tiki-index.php?page=name, it is possible though...

but returning to a section that you have reach via an anchor after edition, is not possible.. unless we cheat...
