Description

Our users keep adding large .ogg files in our files galleries and we have been asked to externalize theses files in a special download directory of the web server. Problem is that the admin screen of the files galleries doesn't have a DISPLACE section. You can set the option for the files to be added in an external directory, and the new ones are indeed placed into it, but the existing files stay in the database.

I have discovered that the Image galleries admin screen has this DISPLACE section but it will work only for the image galleries, no way to use it for the non image galleries.

Solution

I guess simply replicating the Displace section from the image galleries admin screen would do the trick.

i have just been told on the irc channel to mention that the function involved seems to be "move_gallery_store()". So this should help a little anyone who want to work on the pbm. 😃
