Description
Lately, all images inserted into wiki pages are taken by the "system gallery" system.

That is realy cool BUT can be very problematic.

My anonymous don't have to see gallery images cause this is restricted to registred or members peoples. But they could till now see pages with images in it, buttons, whatever.

With this new "system gallery" they can't see no image nowhere. That is not what it should be.

I tried to find the so called :"System gallery" to see if i can change individual permissions. On the list, logged as admin, i can't see it. When i click on the menu at "System gallery" (tiki-list_gallery.php?galleryId=0) this goes to an error (No gallery indicated)... I can't neither.

This is bad as my anonymous user see red x everywhere instead of pictures.

Solution
Interesting - and partly solved...
The "System Gallery" link works in latest 1.9.2 CVS - the other stuff I don't know, have to investigate..
