Description

In groups of people you often have the problem to find day/time when all the people have time to meet.

Especially if they are not in the same room.

And even if they are present its difficult to talk about all the pro and cons when is the best time.

<http://www.doodle.com/>

Is offering an easy solution. Everybody marks the spots when he has time. Doodle comes up with a proposal, when is the best time to meet. No discussions, every vote has the same weight, non-party and you can always reproduce how the decission was formed.

Can we integrate something like this? Especially because the Tiki direction goes more in decision making.

That feature would fit perfectly in.

Solution

Done in Tiki9 as PluginConvene

I like the fact that it starts from a user's personal calendar

Another option would be to add some jquery plugin like scheduler:

- <http://zarjay.net/2010/03/09/using-jquery-to-make-a-simple-scheduler-app/>
- <http://zarjay.net/2010/05/01/updating-my-scheduler-app-with-more-css-and-javascript-goodness/>
- <http://code.zarjay.net/scheduler/src>

Robert Plummer is a good candidate to code this as a payed consultant... (skilled and usually available to schedule some new tasks within is busy agenda) in case you can share some money to get this implemented in Tiki. Or of course, any other person/coder that you trust would be ok too.
