There is some issue sending notification emails to some users. Maybe something case-related? In my case, sometimes I logged in to user "xavi" with the first letter upper case. And some other times I log with al lower case. Both times I seem to be recognized as the same user, whereas the notification messges can't cope with that, it seems...

Solution

Make usernames case sensitive, or insensitive: provide that information at login time, and make tiki behave accordingly.

I also have this problem, it happens when I upload a file to a wiki page.

I cant seem to find a way to stop this, seems only to happen on the Admin login though and the file uploaded is successful.
