this happens when user has asked for email to be scrambled as unicode, so it's displayed as html weird code that would normally be well interpreted by browser, but since content-type is xml, it doesn't work.

making it show a proper e-mail address would reveal user's email to spam bot. what to do?

luciash d' being 30 Apr 18 08:41 GMT-0000

Is this still happening in 18.x or can we close this?

Closing due to inactivity. The issue may be reopened if it is still relevant.
