Description

New users are kind of lost in the process of creating a new tracker from scratch.

After they hit on save the form of the new tracker details, they are shown:

tiki-admin_trackers.php?trackerId=N

(being N the new tracker Id)

Instead, it would be much easier for tiki newbies (or even for everybody?) if they were autoomagically sent to tiki-admin_tracker_fields.php?trackerId=N

Because it's not intuitive (from the newbie point f view) to know what to do from that interface with so many links at the moment when the new tracker has been created.

UPDATE: Still desirable in Tiki 12 LTS for usability for new users.
