Description

Login page increments tiki_pageviews which skews viewing stats, IMHO, especially for sites which require passwords for content viewing, which may be additionally exacerbated if users maintain Tiki's login page as their browsers home page.

Solution

In tiki-setup.php, replace the following (lines 1797-1801 in my install):

```
if ($count_admin_pvs 'y'
```

```
$user != 'admin') {
```

```
if (!isset($section) or ($section != 'chat' and $section != 'livesupport')) {
```

```
$tikilib->add_pageview();
```

```
}
```

```
}
```

with the following:

```
if $user { # Bug fix, otherwise next line counts hits for login page (because $user="" at time of logging page viewing)
```

```
if ($count_admin_pvs 'y'
```

```
$user != 'admin') {
if (!isset($section) or ($section != 'chat' and $section != 'livesupport')) {
$tikilib->add_pageview();
}
}
}
```
