Description

Hi!

First: Thanks for this great project!

When you try to translate an article (by clicking on the small globe that is near the edit icon), it sends you to the wiki translation page, and content is empty, ie, it doesn't get the article's content to translate, and off course, even if it did so, the interface is not correct for article translation (it should have the same article interface, with heading and stuff).

I hasn't tried latest trunk, but bug is present on 5.1.

I tried to search for a similar bug already open (because of this forum thread: http://tikiwiki.org/tiki-view_forum_thread.php?forumId=13&comments_parentId=33126), but I found none, thus: I'm opening this open.

Thanks!

Solution

This was "fixed" in r29021, by removing the section to create a new translation for articles. That section was only designed for the wiki. The fix released in Tiki 6.0.
