Description
The menu cache can't create the directory at /templates_c, when the user loged has a lot of assigned groups. The name of the directory are the concatenation of the groups names.

Solution
Make a MD5 of the concatenation of group names, at /lib/smarty_tiki/function.menu.php

What are the affects of this, as seen by a tiki user?
How can it be reproduced?
Given that kind of information, prioritising it against other bugs becomes easier.
