

Solution

Partially fixed. This is now in 4.x for wiki and forums but not yet done for trackers yet.

About watching trackers: LP told Marc that the remaining work was simply UI work, (ex.: easy for Jonny)

About watching comments: Should be a service

UPDATE: yes it is possible to add one by one for each feature, but for future proofing I think this should be part of Notification revamp that is planned for Tiki 13.

When I create/edit a wiki page, I should have "monitor" check box.

Marc Laporte 04 Apr 08 04:22 GMT-0000 needs for wiki pages & trackers too...

Marc Laporte 11 May 08 03:37 GMT-0000

...but needs to be added for forum replies and for comments.

If I edit or comment a wiki page, I should be offered to monitor.

If I start a new thread or reply to a thread, I should be offered to monitor.

If I add, edit or comment a tracker item, I should be offered to monitor.

It's done for 3.0 wiki page (but not checked by default)

Still not done for tiki-view_tracker.php or the TRACKER plugin

Marc Laporte 02 Feb 09 02:57 GMT-0000

If I watch a comment to a tracker item or wiki page, I would like to be watching that tracker item or wiki page AND any new comments

Marc Laporte 02 Feb 09 03:01 GMT-0000

The explanation is very clear and the default is yes, so more site stickiness

Watch for replies

Don't send me any e-mails

Is this still an issue? If so please update the version in the ticket.

Bernard Sfez / Tiki Specialist 30 Sep 21 14:11 GMT-0000

As per Tiki23;

- Comments have a checkbox on post time "Send me an email when someone replies"
- We can activate notification on wiki page "Monitor this page"
- Trackers have checkbox on post time "Send me an email when someone replies"

Is there something missing ?
