- Login; Remember me is not working when it is set to "Always"

Description
    The log in "Remember me" option can be set to "User's choice". There are fine grained options up to one day, but there's a gap between one day and one week. I'd be helpful and convenient to offer two days and three days as well.

    Another nice-to-have would be a menu for users to choose themselves how long to remember up to a maximum set by the administrator. The administrator's duration menu should include the "Always" option in this case, too.
