Description

When I place 2 menu modules under eachother, the second one doesn't show up.
And I can't figure out why. When I place something between the modules (e.g. Switch Language), all 3 show up.

When I view the source code of the generated page, the second menu has a display:none value. So I know the problem does not lie within the css file.

Modules have been set with decoration=n, notitle=y.

And the menu type=f. Though neither option has an effect on the problem.

Just noticed the menu does show properly in Internet Explorer and Google Chrome.
It still does not show with Firefox however 😞
