Description

There is text in tiki-install.php that is in english without tag or option to translate it.

```
$title = 'Tiki Installer Security Precaution'; $content = ' You are attempting to run the Tiki Installer. For your protection, this installer can be used only by a site administrator. To verify that you are a site administrator, enter your database credentials (database username and password) here. If you have forgotten your database credentials, find the directory where you have unpacked your Tiki and have a look inside the <code>db</code> folder into the <code>local.php</code> file.
```

Would be nice to have this working as the rest of Tiki

Solution

At this point we have no database and Tiki can't rely on the usual language switching system. It require doing a specific language switching system (stored in the session).

It is a bit too much for this...
