Description

The blogs admin area offers an easy way to sort blogs by name rather than id, but the file gallery admin area doesn't. This is important, I think, because if you have lots of files in a given gallery, you may want them to appear in alphabetical order. The id sort method, which seems to be the default, doesn't allow the administrator to build in user-friendly structure for file galleries.

I've put this in as a feature request, but if someone can help me make the change I'm suggesting, I would appreciate the help.

Thanks!

Solution

The fileallery feature was rewritten. The sorting by filename is now ok.
