Description
    With a simple wiki page that uses the standard wiki editor the drop down menus for font colours and background colours are blank.

    Occurs in 12.x at r49095

    The editor settings when this occurs are:
    Full WYSIWYG editor
    BUT Wiki syntax is NOT used
    Content is parsed like a wiki page

    A show instance has been created which shows this bug/regression fixed commit id=49334 - thanks jonny

Looks to me like r49095 was in trunk, so shouldn't have affected this branch at all.

I think this is a consequence of the switch to Smarty inherited templates and the arrival of templates/layouts/classic/layout_view.tpl etc which was in r45793.

It seems now that header.tpl gets parsed before the middle content block, so any CSS added in toolbars (like this bit), plugins, modules etc will now get lost.

Don't know how to fix this, sorry 🙁
