Description

The ability to login is prevented in IE and FF by a jquery error. It prevents the "log in" button from being clicked after you have entered your account information on the login popup box.

I have not been able to turn this on or off, except by changing browsers.

What I have tried:

Changing Styles - No Effect

Clean Upgrade to 12.1 - No Effect

Enabling & Disabling Countless Options - No Effect

Removing all custom JS from Admin->Look & Feel->Customization - No Effect

Disabled Minify and Optimization Functionality - No Effect

Disabled Cloudflare - No Effect

I have not modified any JS. A clean upgrade confirms this.

I really hope this can be looked at quickly. Users not being able to log in is a serious downer.

See my screenshots for FB Error Reports on the issue.

I have narrowed it down to a configuration issue, which is demonstrated with the tiki instance. I will try to figure out what configuration combination of options is causing the issue when I have the setup. (I am away now)
